A new decade brings man a fresh start, a bounding technology frees him from the chains of earth's gravity. A searching, grasping generation comes of age . . .

A different student walks Harding's concrete thoroughfares. He ponders problems which in any other age might have meant man's extinction. He envisions possibilities which in any other age would have been Utopia. He welcomes change. But he fears that in his fervor for newness his institutions and beliefs may be cooked down into sludge . . .

Yet the Class of 1970 ventures forth seeking a longer life with greater comforts than man has ever known. History holds little encouragement. The student of today builds his future on a foundation of dreams.

Few seem to enjoy classes, but few doubt their necessity. The student bends over his work. A patient instructor prods and provides directions . . .

Knowledge is founded in facts. Yet all the facts since Creation will not make a man wise. Each movement and thought of a student form a part of his education. A full life is the best teacher . . .

"The best of times and the worst of times. Now Science with its right hand unveils the more and more delicate machineries of life just before (or after) its left hand destroys them. The same ravaging giant who threatens to demolish it utterly on Earth is the only creature who can comprehend and glorify Creation . . ."

— Terry Russell

Those moments when one is alone with his thoughts bring very personal dreams when one stands at the threshold of life. He may see an opportunity to find his special place—a chance to do something better. But he knows this semester will slip away as quickly as the last . . .

Lonely moments sigh for someone who shared an evening last weekend (or maybe next). Everyone asks but nobody seems to know what will happen after graduation.

What would college be without friends? In acquiring an education a student must reveal his ignorance like wounds of battle. But a friend must be there to patch him up and give encouragement . . .

A sunny Sunday afternoon begs for someone to get away with and forget classes and meetings and roommates and work. A few hours to organize the clutter accumulated between one's ears . . .

The excitement of being young sometimes bursts forth like a volcano spewing fire and energy in all directions. The pressures of college bring moments when anything goes, with little thought wasted on anything but raw, pure fun. A thousand joyous words are packed into one side-splitting laugh. A thousand dreams find fulfillment in a simple joke shared with friends. Precious memories linger to warm later years when one can no longer free his mind from society's cobwebs.

Weapons, pollutants and reproduction leave little doubt that the old ways threaten man's survival. But friends, research and education are a constant assurance that man will survive and prosper a little longer. The student who dreams today may find his reality tomorrow . . .

"You see the world as it is and ask 'Why.' But I see the world in dreams of what it could be and ask 'Why not.'"

— George Bernard Shaw

In an age of change and turmoil ambitions sometimes fade, not because of an unsure foundation, but because of the weakness of the human spirit. When dreams turn to vapor an example of constant strength can inspire renewed vigor.

Teaching a science class at his wife's kindergarten, directing the machinery which has built an outstanding intramural program, exhibiting a soft-spoken and felicitous manner, possessing the stamina to rise above the adversities of life which Fate has dealt him and sustaining an abiding love for mankind, one man stands as an example to which we can look in moments of frustration. He holds steadfastly to life and shows deep-rooted faith in his fellow man.

We the Senior Class respectfully dedicate the 1970 Petit Jean to Cecil M. Beck, because he instills in us the courage to live and dream on.

To Bro Moore,
In appreciation for his personal friendship and for his helpfulness to Harding.
Cliff Ganus

PRESIDENT

Ganus spearheads campaign to increase Harding's facilities

DR. CLIFTON L. GANUS, JR., as president of Harding College, traveled throughout the United States during the year promoting Harding and directing a campaign fund for the continued expansion of present college facilities. Dedication of the Claud Rogers Lee Music Center and completion of the Art Center in the fall marked the end of another phase of the development program he began with his inauguration in 1965. Even though he was away often, his major concern was the operation of the college.

During the summer of 1969, Dr. Ganus helped to develop Seminars on Americanism for Youth, which led him to speaking assignments at 15 conferences in 13 states to more than 3500 outstanding high school students. He did find time in his hectic schedule to win the Searcy Handball Tournament for the second year. In September, President and Mrs. Ganus hosted a faculty-staff reception which heralded the beginning of a new year.

THANKING Mrs. Dale Lee for her generous contribution, Dr. Ganus spoke at dedication ceremonies of the music center.

ANTICIPATING a hit leading to another faculty victory over a student intramural team, Dr. Ganus lets go a mighty swing.

GREETING guests with a firm hand shake, Dr. Ganus heads the receiving line at the September reception held in his home.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

Dr. Pryor celebrates his tenth year as the Dean of Harding

DR. JOSEPH E. PRYOR finished ten years as Dean of the College, a decade which originated from a sense of utmost dedication and desire to serve Harding College, his alma mater. In addition, he teaches several classes in the department of natural science. During the year he prepared an institutional survey for the cyclical re-evaluation of Harding's North Central Association accreditation. A second re-evaluation for the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education was completed in the spring.

On January 1, Dr. Pryor became national secretary-treasurer of Alpha Chi, an office he had held in Region II of the organization for several years. He was appointed by the Arkansas Education Association to an ad hoc committee to revise elementary and secondary certification requirements in Arkansas. For the past 25 years he has served as faculty advisor for the Petit Jean.

JOSEPH E. PRYOR, PhD

"PREPARE ahead," says Dr. Joe Pryor, admonishing his class to keep up with assignments as the proper way of learning.

VIRGIL LAWYER, MA

DEAN OF STUDENTS

Lawyer coaches cross country while directing student affairs

VIRGIL H. LAWYER, Dean of Students, was relieved of his extra duties as Director of Admissions by the appointment of a full-time director. However, his schedule remained busy with his duties as cross-country coach while Mr. Ted Lloyd was on leave of absence to direct the Pan American games for the AAAU. In December, Mr. Lawyer made his yearly recruiting trip to York, Michigan Christian and Ohio Valley Colleges.

He served as sponsor for the Bison Boosters and co-sponsor of the sophomore class. His most unusual responsibilities, however, were those of his job as acting Dean of Women. Other activities included being Foreign Student Advisor. Dean Lawyer holds the presidency of the Arkansas College Personnel Administrators and is chairman of the Arkansas Council of Personnel Deans. During what leisure time he has, he enjoys horseback riding and other forms of outdoor activity.

DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS

Alexander is selected for new position involving admissions

FRED ALEXANDER, in his second year with the college, became Harding's first full-time Director of Admissions. His duties in admissions included serving as Director of Junior College Relations, assisting students in their transfer to Harding. With the new position came several changes in the admissions program, mainly in individual relationships built with interested high school students through personal correspondence.

Mr. Alexander was listed in the 1969 edition of Who's Who in College and University Administration and holds membership in both the American and Arkansas Associations of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

FRED ALEXANDER, MEd

EDDIE R. CAMPBELL, MAT

DEAN OF MEN

Campbell receives promotion, is appointed counselor of men

EDDIE R. CAMPBELL, Admissions Counselor since 1963, is Harding's new Dean of Men. After receiving the MAT from Harding, he taught at Georgia Christian College before returning to Searcy. As Assistant Director of Admissions, he worked with the financial aids aspect of the program. His responsibilities included planning Senior Day, High School Day and the Youth Forum.

Serving as sponsor for the Men's Dorm Council, he is also on the Student Affairs Committee. He is a member of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers and the Association of College Admissions Counselors. For the past year he has been developing a directory listing the churches of Christ in Arkansas.

BILLY RAY COX, MBA, CPA, TDA

PRESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT

Cox travels throughout state in presenting series of lectures

BILLY RAY COX, Assistant to the President, not only traveled extensively in his leading role in Phase II of the Capital Campaign for Harding but also gave a series of management and professional development lectures for the University of Arkansas in cities throughout the state.

Mr. Cox's duties on campus included being faculty advisor for the executive business team and associate professor of business administration. As director of the American Studies Program, he planned the group's tours to Dallas and Chicago. During the football season, he actively supported the Bison team by announcing all home games at Alumni Field. In October, Mr. and Mrs. Cox became the parents of an adopted baby girl.

VIRGIL BECKETT, BA

REGISTRAR

Beckett speeds up registration processes with IBM computers

VIRGIL M. BECKETT innovated computer programming into the registration process during the fall semester procedure. Before this plan for speeding up the slow-moving registration line could be put to use, he had to program all the Business Office information into the IBM machines. His special interest in computer programming and his direction of all IBM operations have resulted in greater efficiency in the handling of students' records in both the registrar's and business office.

In October Mr. Beckett attended a meeting of Arkansas registrars in Clarksville. He holds membership in the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers as well as the Arkansas Association of Collegiate Registrars.

BUSINESS MANAGER

Financing of new men's dorm is task for Business Manager

LOTT R. TUCKER, JR., already supervisor of Harding's multimillion dollar budget, accepted new responsibility in overseeing the financing for a new men's dormitory begun during the spring semester. He was very involved with the college endowment and investment program and in securing funds for the student financial aids program from government grant and loan money.

At a December banquet, Mr. Tucker was installed as president of the Searcy Chamber of Commerce. He is also past president of both the Searcy Kiwanis Club and the Searcy Municipal Planning Commission. His extracurricular activities during the year included watching his two sons play football and basketball for the Academy.

LOTT TUCKER, BA

SHIRLEY BIRDSALL, MSLS

LIBRARIAN

Miss Birdsall's main objective is $400,000 library addition

SHIRLEY ANNE BIRDSALL, editor of the 1954 Petit Jean, has been librarian at Harding since 1962. Her main concern this year has been the plans for the $400,000 addition to the present library facilities. She worked closely with department chairmen in building and expanding the excellent library collection of more than 92,000 volumes. She is a member of the Arkansas Library Association, the American Library Association, the American Association of University Women and Beta Phi Mu, an honorary library science society.

DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH

Olree studies best conditions of fitness for space program

DR. HARRY DOYLE OLREE, Director of Research, conducted experiments under contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to determine the best conditions for developing and maintaining the highest level of physical fitness for space flight. Results of this year's experiments were compared to those of previous years, and recommendations were then presented to NASA for their consideration.

Chairman of the physical education department, Dr. Olree served as president of the Arkansas Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is a fellow in the American association of the organization and serves as editor of the newsletter and a member of the Board of Trustees of the American College of Sports Medicine.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Harding's Board of Trustees provides guideline for growth

The Board of Trustees, responsible for developing the guidelines and principles of Harding, spent much of their time and money this year in directing Harding's appeal for funds to complete the proposed expansion program of college facilities.

Led by Chairman W. L. Howard, Vice-Chairman Dr. Houston Karnes, Secretary David Paul Burton, and Treasurer Jim Bill McInteer, the board met twice on the Searcy campus — during the fall lectureship and spring commencement. The executive committee met between sessions to discuss urgent matters concerning the college.

CURIOUS about an unusual art technique, Board Treasurer Jim Bill McInteer discusses a student project with Don Robinson.

FACULTY

Significant changes in faculty detected by returning students

Significant changes in faculty composition and positions were evident when students returned to the campus last fall. Harding's 103 faculty members exhibited new faces and degrees, while showing increased interest in student relationships. An enrollment of approximately 1,900 gave a student-teacher ratio of 18.3, making possible a closer bond between student and faculty. The capability of the faculty was proven by the fact that this year 26.2 per cent of the faculty hold the earned doctorate, and 65.1 per cent hold the master's degree.

Harding College faculty members have distinguished themselves in their fields of specialization as well as in the classroom. Mr. Maurice Lawson served as president of the Arkansas Academy of Science. Dr. Edward Sewell was elected as president of the Arkansas Department of Higher Education. Dr. Evan Ulrey held the office of secretary-treasurer of the Arkansas Speech Association and was a member of the legislative assembly of the Speech Association of America. Mr. Keith Robinson from Rome, Italy, served as visiting instructor in missions. Dr. Nyal Royse was named director of graduate studies, and Dr. Bobby Coker was appointed director of institutional testing.

CONCERNED about the welfare of his experimental mice, Dr. Bryce Roberson tends to their care with motherly affection.

DOUBTING the validity of a student's check, Jerry Jones speaks out for the faculty at the bell tower auction last fall.

ENGROSSED in the music he's making, Harding Burton controls his keyboard with the authority of an accomplished master.

STAFF

Harding's able staff members perform varied responsibilities

The extremely diversified responsibilities of approximately 300 full-time staff members made it possible for Harding to function with a minimum of outside services. Maintenance crews, after spending a busy summer repainting and repairing dormitories and other buildings, were seen constructing a greenhouse for the science department, installing light bulbs, mowing the acres of grass on the 100-acre campus and collecting campus rubbish, Janitorial employees kept the dormitories, classrooms and offices well-cleaned.

The dining hall staffs were responsible for preparing and serving over 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ million meals during the year, using milk products furnished by the College Dairy. The Harding Press printed weekly editions of the Bison and set all type for the Petit Jean. Dormitory directors provided supervision for students away from home, while the nightwatchman patrolled the campus for security measures. The Harding Laundry furnished convenient facilities for students' cleaning needs. Even recreation was available at Harding's own bowling alley.

CONCENTRATION and skilled craftsmanship enable Thomas James to make careful measurements in the new greenhouse.

SURROUNDED by a sea of students, John Dykes and Jean Showalter handle the daily transactions vital to keeping students supplied.

Academic Life

INTRODUCTION

Growth and expansion seen in completion of new centers

Offering the student expansion in educational facilities and advancement of the curriculum program has been a primary goal of Harding College during the 1969-70- academic year.

During the year the college underwent a full-scale review of its program by the North Central Association. It was the first such revisitation since the college was accredited in 1954. French, physics, missions, and a broad area major in Bible were added to the curriculum program last year.

Construction has now been completed on the Art Center, Music Center, and the drama theater and each building has been utilized during the year. Another building that students make use of is the Beaumont Memorial Library which now contains 91,926 volumes, 2,885 reels of microfilm and more than 1,800 records. Plans for a building extension on the library are now in development.

COOPERATIVE effort on the part of students plays an essential role in the pursuit of answers unknown and problems unsolved.

TIME and effort are demanded by the individual student who hopes to mirror achievements gained from concentrated study.

BEAUMONT Memorial Library supplies Bruce Stidham a place to obtain the information needed to supplement his education.

SEASONAL beauty on campus offers a student escape from the ordinary by providing pleasant surroundings for study.

GOD'S creation provides a conducive atmosphere for the detailed study of God's word in Jerry Jones' Old Testament Survey class.

BIBLE

MISSION/PREPARE generates concern for world involvement

Evangelistic efforts were a major concern to those students involved in the Bible department. As an outgrowth of the MISSION/PREPARE program, Harding established a Medical Men for Missions project, a Missions Research and Information Center and an Advisor and Development Council in World Missions. Campus Evangelism, a movement in which many students took an active part, conducted campaigns this year in Colorado, North Carolina, Louisiana, Kansas, and Indiana.

Classroom hours were enriched by the stories of those students and teachers who had spent the previous summer helping to teach in such places as Australia, Ireland, Germany, Japan, and Denmark. Keith Robinson, visiting missionary from Rome, Italy, helped to further establish the relatively new world missions major.

During the week of the fall lectureship many widely recognized speakers were on campus speaking on the timely topic, "Is God Concerned." Regularly required daily Bible classes were dismissed so that all students might have a better chance to hear and talk to them.

FOUNDATIONS on which to build a life of service to the Lord are emphasized during classroom hours in the Bible Building.

GREEK class taught by William L. Burke provides Bible majors a greater proficiency in their respective fields of endeavor.

DELIVERING a lecture entitled "Is God Concerned About Me?" Don Finto relates his thoughts during the chapel period.

EDUCATION

New grant furthers research; last year's project completed

Harding continued its work with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and under the supervision of Dr. Harry Olree, Director of Research, and completed a twelve month project under a government contract. Over the past two years the department has provided data to NASA.

This year's president of the Arkansas Student National Education Association was Ralph Dixon. It was the third consecutive year that a Harding student has held this top office.

In order to meet the needs of the expanding student body, Dr. Nyal Royse was named director of graduate studies and Dr. Bobby Coker was appointed director of institutional testing, after completing their work for doctorate degrees.

DEMONSTRATING strength and agility in gymnastic events, John Dempsey executes a balanced handstand on the parallel bars.

STRESSING the importance of a good grip Coach Berryhill gives instructions to Jan Wehunt and Norman Bennett.

ASSISTING pupils in an assignment is part of Liz Reves' responsibilities in the Senior Teacher Education Program.

DEDICATION of the Claud Rogers Lee Music Center gave the public opportunity to witness the Harding Band and A Cappella Chorus in concert.

COMFORTABLY situated, Jatonne Laney applies gesso to a panel board in preparation for her assignment in painting class.

COMBINING learned skills with originality, Antonio Bustamante adds impressionistic details to his ceramic assignment in art.

FINE ARTS

New buildings reflect growth in "Decade of Development"

Advancements in the facilities of the art and music departments contributed much to the fine arts area at Harding College. The music building and its recent additions were officially named the Claud Rogers Lee Music Center in dedication ceremonies held early in the year. Mrs. Dale Lee of Gladewater, Texas was honored as the contributing donor for her $125,000 contribution for the new facility, named as a memorial to her late son.

Open house activities signalled the addition of the new $200,000 Art Center to the campus as the fifth and latest building in the school's Decade of Development program. The additional room afforded by the nearly 12,000 square feet of floor space provided a new gallery.

A high point of the year for Harding's A Cappella Chorus was a two week tour to the Northeast in late November. The Belles and Beaux made numerous special appearances with their show centered around the theme, "A Song for all Seasons."

HUMANITIES

Little Theater sees completion heightening audience interest

Students and faculty members from the humanities division had a busy year and began preparation for their work early by taking full advantage of the summer months. Larry Menefee and Linda Schmidt directed Harding's first Drama Workshop with four major productions. With the completion of construction on the Little Theater, the speech department was able to portray a "more intimate type of theater, where the audience is seated closer to the actors," as was noted by department chairman Dr. Evan Ulrey. "The Torchbearers," the first major production of the 1969-70 season, was held there.

Dr. Waldo W. Braden, chairman of the speech department at Louisiana State University delivered an address at a luncheon to English, speech and journalism students and faculty, entitled, "Stimulating the Creative Impulse."

NATURAL SCIENCE

Biological science department builds greenhouse, herbarium

The division of Natural Science continued to grow with new developments in every department. A new greenhouse was erected and a herbarium was built for the use of those in the biological science courses. Dr. William D. Williams of the Physical Science section received a Distinguished Teacher award and Dr. Dean Priest returned after three year's of study at the University of Mississippi with a Ph.D. in Mathematical Analysis.

An award for the outstanding math major was established this year by the wife of the late Mr. Charles Pitner, who was the chairman of the mathematics department from 1947 until 1961.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Students discuss and explore "Perspectives of the Seventies"

The various majors constituting the division of social science were brought together through the American Studies program. Outstanding lecturers and educational tours contributed to this year's theme, "Perspectives for the Seventies." Special meetings were conducted in which students explored the truths and principles resulting in the affluent society of America, and tried to determine whether or not these same ideas would be applicable for the seventies. With a primary interest in business, forty students and their advisors visited Dallas in the fall and Chicago in the spring.

Harding's business team spent much time in preparation for its competition in such contests as the Michigan State University Marketing games. Faculty member Billy Ray Cox, who worked closely with this group, received a Distinguished Teacher Award. New to the department of psychology-sociology, was Ron Brotherton, who was acting chairman. He holds the MA from Fresno State College and lacks only the dissertation for the PhD from the University of California.

Student Life

EVENTS OF AUTUMN

Confusion remains necessary as students endure long lines

Confusion once again was prevalent as 1890 students registered for the fall term. IBM processing eased registration but did not aid counselling and sectionizing and students were plagued with long lines and hot weather. When figures were finally totaled, the freshman class proved to be lacking only in experience, boasting of 512 members.

This was the year of the runoff election as the increased interest in student government caused many more candidates to seek office. Thirty-four freshmen campaigned for the five offices. The student center bore the burden of campaign materials, which sometimes resembled so much litter.

One of the largest audiences in the history of Harding's Lyceum series saw The Association, perhaps the most versatile group in the popular music field. Due to the packed auditorium, many students were required to sit in folding chairs and many more sat on the Administration Building steps.

The Association owns six gold records for their string of hits and also scored the recent movie, "Goodbye, Columbus."

STAMINA and endurance are basic requirements of students trying to gain entry into the library during fall registration.

PLAYING to an overflow crowd, The Association presents a concert far unlike any previous Lyceum program.

INTERESTED students cast their ballots for officers to represent them in the SA.

EVENTS OF AUTUMN

Daily routine of college living overcomes earlier excitement

Soon the linear experience of registration and the excitement of the first few days of a new school year gave way to the daily routine of classes. Thoughts of the previous summer's experiences became just pleasant memories as the student faced the tasks ahead. Daily chapel, a fact of life at Harding, became an experience that sometimes lacked variety, but gave each day deeper meaning.

The pressing assignments of the semester actually forced students to spend some of their spare time studying in the library, although it seldom was overused until a term assignment came due or a test was imminent.

Pledge week, dreaded by those who would pledge a club and anticipated eagerly by those who would have servants for a week, came and passed, leaving all none the worse for wear. Students began to look forward to Homecoming, one of the big events of the fall semester.

PONDERING the shape of things to come, senior Larry Olsen imagines a completed work of art emerging from this lump of clay.

RAIN comes often to the campus in early autumn, bringing with it an odd profusion of umbrellas and other wet-weather gear.

REPRESENTING school spirit, the cheerleaders direct an enthusiastic pep rally for the football Bisons, hoping for an AIC championship.

STUDYING in the library often becomes a necessity, although Dick Travis finds it a quiet retreat from the noise of dorm life.

WAITING for class to get underway can be a painful experience, but these freshmen have found a way to make it enjoyable.

BRIGHT autumn colors and the traditional chili supper form the background for the beginning of Harding's Homecoming.

SILHOUETTED by the bonfire, one of the Bison cheerleaders boosts school spirit at the big pep rally held at Bee Rock.

EVENTS OF AUTUMN

Colors of Homecoming days brightened by Bisons' victory

Much anticipation and week-long preparation was terminated by Homecoming weekend. The traditional chili supper, complete with entertainment, bonfire, pep rally and devotional, was held on Friday night. Saturday afternoon the parade wound its way through the streets of Searcy. The junior class won the float competition and at the halftime ceremonies, Jeanette Sims was crowned Homecoming Queen.

The Bison football team provided the main point of interest for this year's Homecoming festivities, being undefeated in the first five games. The Bisons faced their first real conference test in the Ouachita Baptist Tigers, a team that proved themselves to be one of the toughest in the league.

EXCITED faces reflect the pride that comes with an undefeated Bison football team winning the season's third conference game.

EVENTS OF WINTER

Preparations for the holiday mark week before Christmas

The annual SA sponsored Christmas party was the highlight of the week before Christmas. The program featured a play — "The Man in the Red Suit" — with a Martian that looked vaguely like Santa Claus. The Chorale provided musical entertainment with songs of the season. Bob Helsten amused us as master of ceremonies, and, of course, Santa Claus made his traditional appearance.

This year the SA sponsored the sale of OUT, a fire extinguisher to finance the building of the new Student Center. Sale of OUT took place during Christmas vacation, with competition on an inter-club basis in percentage of sales.

Harding students responded with typical enthusiasm to the yearly Toy and Dolly Drive, making Christmas a little happier for many children in orphan's homes across the country.

PROVIDING a welcome break from dull chapel routine, Randy Burris and Jerry Flowers display their varied musical talents.

NOEL, played by Cathy Morris, tells of her childlike admiration for Santa Claus in the fun-filled play, "The Man in the Red Suit."

COVERED by a blanket of snow, the campus lies quiet with inactivity except for the shuffle of students between classes.

ALTHOUGH conditions are certainly less than ideal, several students attempt to enjoy a rousing game of tackle football.

COMMON courtesy is cast aside as everyone capable of throwing a cold, slushy snowball becomes your sworn enemy.

ONE of Harding's coeds, apparently new at snowball making, joins in the friendly spirit of combat that pervades the campus.

EVENTS OF WINTER

Winter hits the campus hard with snow and cold weather

Winter weather adversely affected many Harding students. Most had difficulty returning to the relative calm of the Searcy campus after Christmas vacation. Then shortly after classes resumed, a winter storm hit, dumping snow on the area.

Students took advantage of the situation—either using it to catch up on their studies or to engage in winter sports not normally found in Arkansas such as snowball throwing and snow football.

But the snow, ice, and frigid temperatures did not last long and the campus returned to its normal snowless wintertime appearance with few complaints from students.

SNOWBALL fights often grew out of proportion and the only fitting denouement to the combat was a roll in the snow.

ASPECTS of dorm life vary greatly but telephone conversations, guitar playing, and private study are familiar scenes in any dorm.

WINTER forces sports enthusiasts to take their games indoors causing a rise in popularity for the New Dorm's ping-pong table.

HAIRCUTS sometimes are necessary. Running a cut-rate barber-shop, Chess Bradford lowers the ears of roommate Randy Krape.

EVENTS OF WINTER

Dormitory activities enlivened by interaction of personalities

Dorm life, the real core of a college education, made all unpleasanties fade. The interacting of personality versus personality, overcoming the first pangs of homesickness, understanding of human behavior, observation of spiritual development and realization of what friendship really means brought dormitory residents to an awareness of their missions and goals. At times studying was overshadowed by TV viewing, card playing and games, but even hitting the books was an experience unparalleled outside dorm living.

The intra-dorm exchange of culture, knowledge, tastes — maybe even clothes — was a bonus in the semesters of living in such a situation.

HOUSEHOLD chores, such as washing or ironing, are often time-consuming, but very necessary aspects of college dorm life.

COMBINING keeping up with current events and sitting under her hair dryer, a necessary evil, this coed reads her paper.

TELEVISION viewing provides Pam Flinn with an escape from the ordinary routines and offers her a period of relaxation.

EVENTS OF SPRING

Spring brings welcome end to long, dreary winter months

Spring, with its promise of summer, brought a change of atmosphere for the weary student, worn from the colds and finals of winter months. As the heaters were turned off and the weather became warmer, no longer was it such an effort to continue the routine. Getting up in the morning, standing in line for dinner, or walking over to the New Science building seemed somehow easier. Dorm life became less important as many students began spending more time outdoors and once more, romances flourished. The "good nights" said outside the doors were no longer quite so hurried and an empty swing was not often found.

Frequent trips to Heber Springs or Bluff Hole made free time go faster but even studying could now be done outside. Remembering the activities of the preceding year, including the SA auction, the annual talent show, and the appearance on campus of the Lettermen, students began to look forward to another eventful season.

BUDS, flowers, wet sidewalks—all indicate an early spring rain and winter-weary students are thankful for changing seasons.

PERFORMING for an attentive audience, The Lettermen mixed soft ballads and well-planned comedy in a spring lyceum.

SPRINGTIME showers often sent Harding students scurrying for shelter but brought fresh life to campus foliage after the barren winter.

AUCTIONEER Bob Martin encourages the spectators to bid on an umbrella at the SA auction of lost and found articles.

COMBINING studying with relaxation, freshman Dana Slingluff demonstrates one of the more practical uses of a Harding swing.

EVENTS OF SPRING

May Day's beauty and pomp add luster to traditonal fete

A record number of 600 high school students attended Harding's annual Senior Day and helped to welcome in Spring in the traditional May Day fete. Amid the colorful setting of spring flowers and a pastel-gowned court, Pam Rogers was crowned Queen of May by President Ganus. Attending the queen were princesses Nancy Mitchell and Jeanette Sims and a representative from each of the women's social clubs. Following the coronation, the queen and her court and the large crowd of students and visitors watched as 32 young ladies performed the intricate maneuvers of winding the maypole to the accompaniment of Tchaikovsky's "Waltz of the Flowers."

COLD weather and early morning practice create unpredictable problems which only a fellow pole winder could understand.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order from Dr. Ganus as he climaxes a beautiful day by crowning Pam Rogers Queen of May.

FLOWERS floating in the lily pool were eagerly sought after by many young souvenir hunters following the May Day event.

Faces of Harding College are anxious during Petit Jean Day

Eager to find and anxious to know were characteristic attitudes of students during the unveiling of the 1969 Petit Jean. Editor Diane Hoagland presented to Dean Joseph Pryor the dedication copy of her book that featured the faces of Harding. S. A. president Ronnie Reeve crowned as queen of the Petit Jean, Miss Donna Deason.

The eagerness and anxiousness came to high point at the end of the dedication ceremonies when students rushed to five spots on campus where the books were being distributed. Taking their yearbooks to a variety of locations the students found memories of a year gone by.

The tenth consecutive All-American rating was awarded the 1969 Petit Jean by the Associated Collegiate Press.

LOOKING for the faces of friends, students closely examine their copies of the annual and recall the past year's memories.

Commencement marks an end and a beginning. Though it is the termination of four years of unceasing effort, as its name implies it is the beginning of a new life away from the confines of school.

John Allen Chalk, Herald of Truth minister, and Dr. James E. Anthony, Texas dentist and businessman, were speakers for baccalaureate and commencement, respectively, presenting the seniors with some final challenges. On June 5, diplomas were awarded to 294 persons in the college's largest class in history. With great expectations the graduates approached their new lives, ready for the ultimate test—performance—trading term papers and exams for such problems as quality control and promotion evaluations.

Selection of class officers and sponsors initiates seniors' year

Beginning its year with the traditional electing of officers, the 1970 senior class, numbering 404, was down eighteen students from the previous year. In recognition of his many years of service as intramural sports director, the class selected Cecil Beck for the yearbook dedication.

Rebounding from a dismal showing in the Homecoming float contest, seniors elected Mary Smith recipient of the Regina Spirit Award for best exemplifying the spirit of Harding. Mary, a physical education major from Newport, is a member of the Ju Go Ju social club. She was a Bison cheerleader for two years, the 1968 Homecoming queen, and was selected class favorite in her freshman and sophomore years. She is a member of the PEMM club and was selected for recognition in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges as a junior.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

SA heads up drive to collect funds for new student center

Attempting to create a lasting impression and to make a significant contribution to Harding College, the Student Association spearheaded a drive to collect $25,000 to assist in erecting a new student center. Upon completion, it will provide an ideal atmosphere in which students can escape from the drudgeries of academics.

Highlighting the year was the annual Christian College Conference, hosted by Pepperdine College. The delegation from Harding journeying to Los Angeles included four students plus the sponsor and dean of students. Discussions centered around the task of bridging gaps between students, administrations and communities.

SA activities throughout the year included major renovations within the Emerald Room. In addition to painting the room, rugs and additional furniture were installed. The annual toy and dolly drive again brought happiness to children in more than 30 different orphans' homes.

Wing representatives help SA obtain funds for student center

Immediately upon completion of the dorm wing elections, the newly elected members of the Men's and Women's Dorm Council convened to begin activities involved in representing the student body. Comprised of 26 men's representatives and 28 representatives for the women's dorms, the council functioned primarily as a sounding board for student ideas and recommendations concerning dorm problems and other aspects of campus life.

One of the primary objectives of the representatives was to assist the Student Association in the collection of donations from the students to augment the Student Loyalty Fund, enabling construction of the new student center to begin.

DIRECTING the girls from the dormitories to safety during the fire drills is the job of the dorm council firemarshalls.

Petit Jean attempts to portray personal account of the year

The foundation of the 1970 Petit Jean was one of dreams, centering around the effort to capture the essence of Harding College through a camera lens. An attempt at making the year a personal account of the lives and actions of each student, this year's annual was intended as both a book with which each student could identify and a reflection of student ideas and attitudes.

Under the editorship of Jerry Bailey, additional color photography was added to the book despite increased expense and difficulties. Business Manager Larry Smith set a new sales record and collected more advertizing profits than his predecessors.

Bison announces new policy with four-man editorial board

Beginning the year optimistically, Bison Editor David Crouch sought to produce the best newspaper in recent history. Various modifications characterized the '69-70 Bison. At the beginning of the year immediate plans were constructed to increase the in-depth news coverage of campus life. Departing from the tradition of previous years, editorials were written by an editorial board consisting of the editor, two associate editors and the assistant editor. For the first time in several years, the Bison also had a female Business Manager.

This year's staff was one of the largest in Bison history. In addition to being large, it was also experienced with many staff members having had previous collegiate journalistic training. The staff also brought knowledge from other areas of campus life with representation in the Student Association, American Studies program and various music groups along with participation in intercollegiate and intramural sports.

PRIMARY responsibility for all facets of the production of the Bison rests upon the shoulders of Editor David Crouch.

CONTRIBUTIONS and suggestions toward an award-winning newspaper are offered by Bison sponsor Neil Cope to the Editor.

CONSTRUCTION of ad layouts on a light table proves to be a demanding task for Bison Business Manager Katherine Julian.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Mission Study group features special talks by missionaries

Providing practical lessons for those students planning to become either full- or part-time ministers is the function of the Timothy Club. During the year, members of the Bible faculty and various ministers spoke to the group. One of the highlights of the first semester was the panel of preachers' wives who discussed the problems, challenges and blessings of being a preacher's wife.

Maintaining an atmosphere conducive to studying areas and problems of mission work was the function of Mission Study. Once a month special missionaries spoke at the meetings. All of the religious and campaign groups joined in the group All Christians Together (ACT) in promoting a better relationship among all Christians.

Sending flannel board materials to Italy was only one of the projects engaged in by the members of Les Bonnes de Christe. In addition, they also sponsored a "skip-a-coke-a-week" drive to help finance sending the materials to the missionaries.

DISCUSSING the minister and his personal worship life, Bro. Andy Ritchie emphasizes spirituality in one's worship to God.

MUSIC GROUPS

Singing groups begin working on new concert presentations

After returning from a summer overseas tour, the A Cappella Chorus and the Belles and Beaux both immediately began working on entirely new shows for their performances this year. On November 14-16, the A Cappella Chorus spent the weekend at Abilene Christian College participating in the Christian College Choral Festival. Two weeks later, they took their annual fall tour, this year a six-state tour into the Northeast. In the spring, there was an extended nine-state tour, again up into the Northeast as far as New York and Pennsylvania. Numerous weekend performances were conducted at nearby congregations.

The Belles and Beaux unveiled their new show, "A Song for All Seasons," during the lectureship after many long hours of rehearsal. During the semester break, they went on a tour of various southern cities and junior colleges.

In an effort to help foreign missionaries conduct a more effective work, the Recording Chorus taped hymns in Chinese, German, and Italian.

The Men's and Women's Ensembles performed during lectureship week with the A Cappella Chorus. While on tours, they performed each night during the concerts.

The Pep Band continued to play at pep rallies and away football and basketball games.

Commencing the year with an outing at Wyldewood, the Chorale made preparations for the Thanksgiving concert. Later in the year members made trips to Little Rock and Southwest Arkansas. Pop show tunes and novelty numbers were included in the repertoire of the Madrigal Singers.

SPEECH AND DRAMA GROUPS

French drama wins Arkansas division of stage competition

"The Nose" was king of drama as Harding's 1969-70 drama department produced the magnificent comic-tragedy of "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Written by the French playwright Edmond Rostand, "Cyrano de Bergerac" is the love story of a brave soldier with a beautiful soul but an ugly nose. Teresa Rushton was the beautiful maiden wooed visibly by the handsome Mike Wise and wooed poetically by the dashing, but shy, Chuq Parker.

Ably directed by Larry Menefee, Cyrano de Bergerac was honored by winning the Arkansas division of the American College Theatre Festival, a brilliant accomplishment since the total number of performers and technical assistants was limited to twenty-five. Chuq Parker was also named one of the ten outstanding performers of Region V College Theatre Festival in Fort Worth, Texas.

REFLECTING upon his vast experiences, Chuq Parker, as Cyrano de Bergerac, momentarily expounds upon his philosophy of life.

PAINTING the set in preparation for the production of Cyrano de Bergerac, director Larry Menefee assists in last minute details.

PLEADING for Teresa Rushton's love, Mike Wise is rebuffed by her demands that he be as poetic in person as he was in letters.

SERVICE CLUBS

Dactylology members attend deaf worship services weekly

The Dactylology Club continued its weekly journey to Little Rock to help the Central congregation conduct its worship services for the deaf members. Each Thursday evening club members met to increase their proficiency in the deaf language. Arriving at school a week before most students, the Big Sisters prepared to make each new coed feel welcome. During the preceeding summer, they wrote letters to prospective coeds answering their questions about Harding. Operating under the auspices of the Women's Dorm Council, the Fire-marshals were organized to assist in the orderly evacuation of the dorm in the event of a fire. The Men's Wing Counselors were formed to help run the men's dorms in an orderly fashion.

PRACTICING the sign language used in communication with deaf persons, members meet weekly to increase their proficiency.

POLITICAL GROUPS

Lectures on Constitutionalism sponsored by political group

The Harding chapter of the Young Americans for Freedom was essentially a conservative, non-partisan political group. The promotion of Constitutional government and individual rights constituted its basic purpose along with providing an acceptable avenue of expression for young persons within the system of the collegiate community. At its bi-monthly meetings speakers lectured on subjects dealing with the Constitution and Constitutional Law. The organization conducted a fund-raising campaign in the spring, showing popular motion pictures plus a documentary film obtained from the National Education Program, to help support the state YAF chapter. Periodic trips to Little Rock were necessary to attend the state board meetings where state-wide plans were formulated. As its project, the group assisted in the publication of The Essence, the state YAF paper which dealt with current state and national issues.

Later in the tour the members inspected the training area of the Dallas Cowboys and interviewed coach Tom Landry. In addition, the group toured the facilities of Braniff Airlines, the A.B.C. television center and General Motors assembly division. The spring tour carried the ensemble to Chicago.

Social Clubs

INTRODUCTION

Social clubs assist in gathering money for new student center

Emphasis on service projects characterized the social club year. Several clubs donated money to bring a student's wife from Biafra, gave money to the Student Loyalty Fund for a new student center and worked with the Children's Home in Morriton. Club competition was keen, not only in all club sports but also in collecting toys for the Toy and Dolly Drive at Christmas, in selling fire extinguishers to raise money for the student center fund and in presenting chapel programs. Because it conflicted with Homecoming activities, Pledge Week was changed from the sixth to the seventh week of school. Roughness of pledging activities in past years led to changes in pledging rules; however, the traditional apparel and embarrassing activities remained for pledges. Formal banquets in the spring, outings and such functions as hayrides, spaghetti suppers and old-fashioned Christmas parties provided members and their dates with an escape from the drudgery of classes and exams.

CHECKING the social club board for notices of meetings and ball games is a regular stopover on the way to the mailbox.

Interest in Zambian education inspires club project for AEX

The education of the Zambian people has been the main concern of Alpha Epsilon Chi this year. Following Dr. George Benson's plea for educational materials, AEX's went to work to collect used textbooks for Zambia Christian School. Boxes were placed in all dormitories and students were asked to donate books which they no longer used. The club departed from the usual type Christmas party for its December function. AEX's and their dates celebrated the holiday season with a Chanukah party at the Searcy Optimist club. Other activities of the year ranged from measuring the length of coeds' skirts during pledge week to a spring outing and banquet.

At the annual function pledges are required to dress as girls and give a party for members of the club. A fifty percent increase in membership brought the club to a new high of forty-five. Alpha Tau triples its club size, snares first in club swimming

Formed only two years ago, Alpha Tau Epsilon has almost tripled its membership. From a small membership of twelve in the spring of 1968 the club jumped to a high of thirty-three this year. This increase in size has enabled Alpha Tau's to participate actively in all small-club sports. In last year's track and field day they accumulated enough points to take second place as well as secured the championship in club swimming. In December Mr. Ronald Brotherton, one of the club's new sponsors, hosted a weiner roast and party for Alpha Tau's and their dates. BETA PHI KAPPA

Industrious Beta Phi members give college sign fresh look

The Harding College sign on Race Street received a new appearance as a result of Beta Phi Kappa's project. Beta Phi's painted the faded lettering to aid visitors in locating the campus.

In sports action Beta Phi took second in both A and B small club football and third in softball. February 28 was chosen as the date for a formal banquet in Little Rock. Hosted by Paul's Lamp-lighter, the event had as its theme "Some Enchanted Evening." Conspicuous spelunkers' hats identify weary Frater pledges

Although cave exploring was not a part of pledge week, Fraters' pledges were identified by their spelunker's hats. Trial by a grim kangaroo court finally brought an end to a week of endurance for pledges. Games, refreshments and folk songs were enjoyed by Fraters and their dates at a mid-winter party at Wyldewood. THETA PSI

Theta Psi's help brighten Yule season for deprived children

Ten stockings made by Theta Psi members and stuffed with toys, fruit, candy and other gifts brightened the Christmas season for one Searcy family. Club members honored the children with a party at which refreshments were served and the stockings presented. Other service projects of the year included collecting Bibles for a missionary overseas and buying a piece of playground equipment for the children's home at Morrilton. Joe Webb's stables provided an authentic setting for Theta Psi's hayride-western party at which couples were dressed as cowboys and Indians.

Fun at Tofebt Christmas party includes attempts at taffy-pull

Getting completely into the spirit of an old-fashioned party, Tofebt's attempted a taffy-pull at their Christmas function. The fun involved in pulling the taffy compensated for their lack of skill. Games, refreshments and the exchanging of comic gifts were also a part of the evening. As a group Tofebt's visited children at the Southern Christian Home in Morrilton. At Christmas the SA Toy and Dolly drive elicited one hundred percent participation from the club. A banquet in March and an outing were Tofebt's second semester activities.

Thanksgiving week with its numerous visitors provided WHC's with an opportunity to meet some of their former club sisters. The club hosted an afternoon tea for WHC alumnae at the home of Mrs. Billy Ray Cox. Continuing a tradition, the club had a country box supper in February. Webb's stables furnished an appropriate setting for the sharing of fried chicken and old-fashioned fun. Service projects of the year included sending packages to boys in Vietnam and decorating a room at the Morrilton children's home. A chapel program and banquet comprised the club's spring activities.

COACHING STAFF

Six new coaches increase staff of Bisons' athletic department

Under the leadership of new Athletic Director Hugh Groover, who retired as head basketball coach in the spring, and the faculty athletic committee, the intercollegiate athletic program at Harding began the 1969-70 year with six new coaches: Dick Johnson, assistant football and head baseball coach; Cliff Sharp, assistant football; Jess Bucy, head basketball; Ned Boaz, assistant basketball; Norman Merritt, golf; and Mike Clark, swimming. Returning members of the coaching staff were John Prock, head football coach; Jerry Mote, assistant football; Ted Lloyd, track; Virgil Lawyer, cross country; Ed Burt, bowling; and Bob Knight, tennis.

In 1968-69 Harding athletic teams captured conference championships in cross country, bowling and tennis and accumulated sufficient points in the AIC All-Sports Trophy contest to finish within four and a half points of the coveted crown.

Taking seriously their responsibility to bring out the best in their charges, the coaches spend many hours grooming the athletes. The results make for many exciting experiences for the fans.

Led by captain Martina Prock, the Cheerleaders directed the capacity-filled stands of Alumni Field in cheering the Bisons to victory. Joining her for their first year as cheerleaders were Kathy Nelson, Kris West, Laura Shuffett, Donna Miller and Beth Geer. Susan Hankins, Cass Yingling and Ellen Potter returned for their second year. Five-year-old Lori Bailey, daughter of sponsor Karyl Bailey, was mascot and smallest member of the squad. Complemented by the Bisonettes, the cheerleaders equalized the winning spirit exhibited by the football team. Well-planned pep rallies aroused enthusiasm and participation among students bolstered the gridders' winning season. New cheers, imaginative skits and posters also aided in characterizing the season as a single involvement of athletes and fans.

Winning became the weekly thing this year for the Bisons as they assembled their most impressive record of victories since their resuming inter-collegiate football in 1959. Head coach John Prock's gridders, called by many writers "The Cinderella Team" of the AIC, put together a string of seven wins and one tie before disaster struck once at Russellville against Tech and then once more at Conway against State College. Hopes of gaining the AIC crown in football were high on campus, but during 60 minutes of bruising action against the SCA Bears, the bulls fell from number one in the conference to number three behind Tech and Henderson. Comebacks were staged in both losses, but the clock was a factor in both contests. Along with the accurate arm of Jerry Copeland were three of the top receivers in the league: Ronnie Peacock, Harry Starnes and John Manning. Also potent in the offense running backs Charles Jones and Charles Caffey gained the hard gotten yardage on the ground. No less worthy of praise were the interior lineman Ed Eason, Rick Brown, Jerry Cook and Mike Watson.

The defense led by Captain Randy Delaet came up with the big game saving goal-line stands or the pass interception or the fumble to permit the offense to begin their drives. The defensive secondary composed of David Treadwell, Mike Conley, Dave Reves and Terry Brumley defended against many efforts of the opponents to score through the air. The men up front, the men who felt the physical contact of every play, Eugene Johnson, Mike Payne, Dean Kilmer, Ken Merritt, Randy Delaet, Bill Ivey, Jim Duncan and Curtis Booker stopped many runners after little gain.

Winning becomes the maxim as team builds strong record

The winning season assembled by the 1969 Bison football team surprised everyone except the men who were willing to work diligently on two-a-day and even sometimes three-a-day practice sessions before the first game. Many local fans joined Harding's student body in backing the Bisons and the sweet taste of victory delighted enthusiastic crowds celebrating the exciting contests. This superior physical prowess led to weeks of thrilling games filled with well executed plays.

When All-AIC and All-Star ratings were announced in the Arkansas newspapers proof of the team's talent was abundant. The NAIA Dist. 17 "Coach of the Year" was Head Coach John Prock, a deserving honor to one who had guided a team picked for the cellar to an impressive 7-2-1 record. At the climax of the season, the Bisons ranked 19th among colleges in the NAIA.

Picked for the All-Conference team were quarterback Jerry Copeland, offensive guard Jerry Cook, tailback Charles Jones, offensive tackle Mike Watson, defensive end Curtis Booker and defensive tackle Jim Duncan. Honorable mention picks were Randy Delaet, Eugene Johnson, David Treadwell, David Reves, Mike Watson, Ronnie Peacock, John Manning, Charles Caffey and Harry Starnes. Seven Bisons who had the honor of playing on the All-Star team, which defeated league champion Henderson 45-6, were Ronnie Peacock, Vance Cox, Jerry Copeland, Charles Caffey, Curtis Booker, Jim Duncan and David Treadwell.

Hopes for winning the AIC championship lie with the returning of 16 starters for next year's nucleus.

Season with unusual qualities places new coach at the lead

The 1969-70 basketball season was one of unusual qualities. There was not a returning starter to the team that began the year with a new coach. When Hugh Groover stepped up to the position of Athletic Director, Jess Bucy was chosen to assume the duties of head mentor of the round-ballers. Assisted by Ned Boaz, Coach Bucy worked to mold a bunch of youngsters into a team that impressed a lot of people during the year. He began building his team with two seniors, Larry Olsen and Danny Russell and a sophomore, Bill Chism, all of whom saw little action last year. To these he added a transfer from Ohio Valley Junior College, Dana Zartman, and a freshman, Joe Mathias. With this inexperienced crew he compiled a 10-14 record for the season. Charlie Boaz and Greg Franz came from the bench and pumped in several needed points during the season. This was a year of adjustment for the coaches and players who made up a squad that was capable of beating any AIC team, but lacked consistency on the score board.

SMOTHERED by spring-legged opponents, Bill Chism goes up for a shot only to discover a goal covered with aggressive hands.

BASKETBALL

Conference basketball season sees action split into leagues

The 1969-70 basketball schedule saw the ten AIC teams divided into two divisions of play. Ouachita Baptist, Arkansas Tech, Southern State, Hendrix and Ozarks made up division A while Henderson, Arkansas College, Harding, Arkansas A&M and State College were in division B. Harding found AIC competition stiff as Ouachita and Henderson won their divisions with 16-2 and 15-3 records respectively. In the B division Harding was third.

During the season there were three close games that would have put the Bisons in the four team playoff. A one point loss to Arkansas College, a 74-76 defeat by Hendrix, and a 4-point victory by State College killed Harding's opportunity for honors.

SHOOTING his fall away jump shot, Harding's center Larry Olsen gets the ball away while two opponents guard him close.

BREAKING away with another steal for the Bisons, defensive ace Charlie Boaz drives for another of his frequent layups.

OUTSTRETCHED, the arm of a Harding opponent threatens to block a shot by Bison Charlie Boaz as both appear suspended.

BASKETBALL

Coach Bucy's men rank high in completed league statistics

Coach Bucy's cagers boasted of four squad members who ranked high in final conference statistics. Harding had three players who finished within the top twenty scorers. Danny Russell was sixth with a 16.2 point per game average. Fifteenth in the league was Larry Olsen, and Bill Chism, nineteenth, with 15.8 and 13.9 point averages per game respectively. The team was led in rebounding by senior Larry Olsen. He was seventh in the conference with 9.2 rebounds per game. Joe Mathias pulled down an average of 7.7 rebounds each game.

Two innovations appeared to add color to Harding's basketball season. Spectators counted down the final seconds of each game and a special night was devoted to the honor of Searcy High School and Harding Academy teams.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Bisons fall to Arkansas Tech in cross country competition

Tim Geary, a freshman from Merced, California, in his first season outdoors, clocked 24:37 and John Ratliff, a junior transfer from York College, posted a 25:00 in the AIC Cross Country meet at Conway to take second and third, respectively, in the 4.9 mile championship run. However, the young squad was unable to continue the string of crowns, falling to an improved Arkansas Tech team. Only one returning letterman was listed among the inexperienced crew of Bison harriers.

Others who ran in the conference meet were Bill Slicer who placed 17th, Rick Johnson who finished 24th, Brad Dopps who was 28th, David Embry finishing 35th and Jim Kaufman 38th.

Rising interest in the grueling sport by other schools in the AIC has improved competition in the conference and commanded more respect from Harding's cross country team.

Jim Crawford, who set many of the state's cross country records while a student at Harding, served as assistant coach for the Bisons. Commented Crawford, "The boys did exceptionally well considering the fact that practically none of the boys had ever run in competition in high school."

SIXTY-SIX runners representing 10 schools from Arkansas and Missouri begin the four mile Harding Invitational course.

BOWLING

Bison kegglers roll to their fifth straight league championship

The Bison bowlers captured their fifth straight Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championship by defeating eight AIC teams. The most crucial of these was State College of Arkansas. This victory paved the way for the bowlers to the national tournament and a chance at a first after last year's second place finish. Their efforts were unsuccessful in winning the NAIA tourney, although they did gain the fourth spot.

Doubles team, Charles Burt and Charles Webb, paced the Harding kegglers by taking second in the Kansas City competition. Leading the team in total pins for the year and winning the AIC singles crown was Roy Smalling of Corpus Christi, Texas.

Coach Ed Burt began his 1970 season with four returning lettermen. With the aid of five new men his team shoots for its sixth straight league title.

BASEBALL

Bright expectations give way to disappointing hardball year

Bison baseball in 1969 began with high hopes but ended in heartbreak. The team completed the season with a 16-9 record. Ouachita Baptist University won its third straight AIC title with the sweep of a doubleheader from the Bison's on the season's final day. With five wins and seven losses in conference play Harding finished sixth. In the NAIA District 17 tournament the team lost a close one in extra innings to State College.

Pitcher Bob McKeel was awarded high honors on the team by being named to the All-AIC, All-District 17 and honorable mention All-American teams. Jerry Moore was picked as an honorable mention All-District 17 and All-AIC third baseman as he led the team in hitting with a .377 average. Roy Steele and Gary Isbell received honorable mention All-AIC honors. Steele, a junior shortstop, was named to the first team All-District 17 in NAIA.

SHOUTING encouragement to his teammates is third baseman Jerry Moore in an effort to keep them alert for quick plays.

GOLF

Golf team drops one position to seventh place behind Tech

The golf team in 1969 dropped one notch from the previous year to seventh place behind a perennially strong Arkansas Tech. The team was paced by the number one player, James Henderson, who was the medalist for the year. From 1964-1966 the golfers placed eighth but in the 1966-1967 season, they climbed to fifth. In 1968 they finished sixth. Other team members were Roy Fuller, Dick Berryhill, Cody Bridges, Tom Snyder, John McGuire, and Tom Quattlebaum.

The season for 1970 was brightened with the addition of Charles Anderson who was the league leader at York College. Roger Elliott, Mike Harris, Richard Fowler and Larry Frank will lend depth to the squad. Norman Merritt, who is in his first year as coach, feels that lively competition among members of the team will significantly improve their performance.

The 1969 Harding track team began the season boasting of numerous distance runners but lacking in sprinters. Jim Crawford, Tim Geary, Dick Shenfeld and Rick Harris paced the runners in the various area meets. Jim Crawford, who has received national honors, recorded a first and two seconds in three of the country's biggest spring track meets. He ran in the Texas, Drake, and Kansas relays. Tim Geary, a freshman from Merced, California, added depth to the Bison's efforts.

In indoor track this year Jim Duncan, All-American tackle in football and shot putter for the track and field team, placed fifth in the NAIA National Indoor Track meet. His toss was 52 feet, 10½ inches. In April, 1969, Ted Lloyd, coach of the track team, accepted a one-year appointment as track coach of the country of Panama. The position was considered an "exceptional" opportunity.

PATIENTLY awaiting the start, Tim Geary and Dick Shenfeld are a picture of the concentration needed for the mile run.

TENNIS

Tennis team wins conference title for third consecutive year

Under the coaching of Bob Knight the 1969 tennis team continued its winning tradition by grabbing the AIC title for the third straight year. The Harding team reigned undefeated in AIC play. Winning the conference tournament by a score of 28 out of 29 possible points, the netters were chosen to represent the district in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City. The team emerged eighteenth in the nation and entered only three men in the tournament.

Freddie Marsh won the AIC singles championship by defeating teammates David Elliott and Dean Bawcom in the final two rounds. Marsh and Lynn Dixon were second in doubles play.

Four of the five top men returned for the 1970 season. The only position vacated was the number two spot which was filled last year by senior David Elliott. Elliott received the AIC Scholar Athlete Award for the 1969 season.

INTRAMURALS

Large participation is shown in intramural sports program

Intramural sports at Harding have become very popular with students who wish to keep in shape. The program permits frustrated young persons to release tensions on the athletic field or in the gym. Acceptance of this idea is illustrated by the large number of students who participate. Virtually everyone watches the contests, and approximately 75 percent of the student body takes active part.

The sports activities are diversified with 35 events for individuals and teams ranging from tennis, badminton, archery and sit-ups to ragtag football, basketball, softball and volleyball. Students have an opportunity to win trophies for the events they enter. Each spring an award is presented to the outstanding intramural athlete.

Cecil Beck and Barbara Barnes direct the intramurals. Mr. Beck is in his seventeenth year and Mrs. Barnes is in her fourth year. With this leadership the Harding intramural programs maintain one of the nation's most highly acclaimed systems.

DELTA CHI's Linda Broom and Tri-Kappa's Deb Beckham reach for a rebound in a crucial match between the opposing teams.

COCKED to pass is intramural quarterback Ron Copeland while Richard Hilton is rushing in an attempt to grab his flag.

DESPERATE in her attempt to keep the ball in play is Mary Smith with Donna Simpson and Linda Kodrich preparing to assist her.

PURSUIT is the name of the race and Brad Dopps is the runner who has passed all competition to remain the final contestant.

ATTENTION is drawn to speedster Emerson Hayes as he attempts to elude these would-be flag grabbers in a try for a touchdown.

INTRAMURALS

FIGHTING for possession of the ball, Jane Wade tries to overpower an opponent in a women's intramural basketball game.

FOOT cocked to kick the ball, Denny Dotson approaches the kick-off as David Butterfield races downfield to grab the flag.

STRETCHING to stop Jack Reece, Dick James valiantly reaches for the flag as Emerson Hayes closes in from behind to assist.

RECOVERING from a difficult play, basketball coach Jess Bucy tries to throw the runner out in a faculty intramural game.

THOUGHTS about his next event prevail in Dave Mellor's mind while he watches the other contestants on Track and Field Day.

TRACK AND FIELD DAY

Track and Field Day provides vigorous competition in sports

Track and Field Day, held annually in early May, gave students a chance to show their athletic skills in more than 30 events. Classes were dismissed to allow students an entire day of exercise and competition. With activities such as the tug-of-war and fat man's relay, almost no one had a valid excuse for not participating.

Willie Rollins set a school record last year when he clocked a 10.3 in the 100 yard dash. Team winners were Kappa Sigma Kappa in the American League and Mohican in the National League.

WITH both strain and poise in his delivery, Marty Thompson heaves the discus to a winning distance in this field event.

LUNGING at the wire, Skip Cain edges out Doug Adams for a victory in the 880 yard run during the Track and Field Day.

Academy

DANNY COSTON

Seniors dedicate '70 Petit Jean to "Professor" Danny Coston

Since joining the Academy faculty in 1967, Danny Coston has won the confidence of students and teachers alike. Whenever someone is in need of his help, whether it be a cheerleader needing his advice to make a sign or a member of the cross-country team needing his coaching instructions, he is always willing to offer his time and assistance.

"Professor Maynard," as he is often called, won the respect of each student through his easy-going manner. One student commented, "I never dreaded going to art class, in fact I looked forward to it, because I knew that I would be taught something useful in an interesting way."

We, the senior class of 1970, gladly dedicate our portion of the 1970 Petit Jean to you, Coach Danny Coston for helping us to appreciate all things, especially the value of life.

PERRY S. MASON, MA, LLD, Superintendent

J. E. BERRYHILL, MA, portrayed an important role in Academy life. His kind manner and efficient counseling comforted many confused students in arranging their schedules. Mr. Berryhill, a familiar sight behind the concession stand, also taught driver education, Old Testament Bible, and American History. In his position as registrar, he was kept busy as a record 320 students enrolled at the beginning of the fall semester. Always concentrating on improving the curriculum, he will be even busier next year as the Academy will introduce two new subjects, economics and journalism.

ADMINISTRATION

Goals of leadership and unity are set by members of faculty

PERRY S. MASON, BA, MA, LLD, now in his 23rd year as Superintendent of Harding Academy, is trying to promote the theme, "What's Good About America." He speaks to high schools all over the state of Arkansas. Loyalty to church, school, state and country are the main points of emphasis in his speeches. Dr. Mason is working to establish 19 private schools, eleven of which are Christian, across the United States. He is chairman of the American Legion Department of Americanism and is on the National Americanism Committee. In spite of his busy schedule, Dr. Mason still finds time to make weekly talks to the student body at Harding Academy chapel assemblies.

J. E. BERRYHILL, MA, Registrar

BILL DILES, MA, teacher of Bible, typing and shorthand, is in his third year as principal. Coordinating the Academy chapter of Future Business Leaders of America, he keeps students interested in business abreast of current trends in the business world. Although much of his time is spent in the classroom, he devotes many hours to his administrative duties. He is an enthusiastic supporter of athletics and can always make time to attend all Academy sports activities and serve as team statistician. His contagious smile warms the hearts of students and faculty members alike.

HONORS

Sub-Deb Spirit Award winner exemplifies Academy's ideals

Because he exemplifies the spirit and ideals of Harding Academy, Johnny Wright Baines has been chosen by the Sub-Deb social club as the recipient of the 1969 Sub-Deb Spirit Award.

Throughout his twelve years at the Academy, Johnny has shown a willingness to work and a competitive spirit in all aspects of school life. He represents the best of Harding Academy, because he has given the best of himself.

The Sub-Debs of Harding Academy chose Johnny as one of the beaux for the 1969-70 school year. He was selected because of his outgoing personality and courtesy. Throughout the year he has always been ready to give cheerful assistance.

In the field of sports his exceptional ability and extra hard work have made him a valuable asset to the Academy sports program. He has participated in team athletics since elementary school. He has been a starter in basketball and football for the past two years. As a junior he received the Hustler Award, which the coaches and team present to the player who exhibits the spirit of a winner even in defeat. He was also an energetic track man in junior and senior high.

In academic life he serves the school and community as president of the Key Club. Johnny was also honored by Academy students as the favorite of his sophomore and senior class.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Academy students strive for unity, dedicated leadership

As new doors continue to open for those who seek a purpose for living, new paths of learning are being tread by students at Harding Academy. New fields of adventure were explored by science classes. Under the direction of Randall Brannon, students studied the properties of chemistry, utilizing new labs in the college science building.

A new lounge area, made available with the art department evacuation, afforded added eagerness for snack break, a time for students to escape from studies and problems to enjoy milk and candy. Dull moments were rare in this needed facility.

DURING English IV, instructor Elsie Lynn answers questions for anxious seniors on helpful principles of writing reports.

CATCHING up on the latest gossip, Academy students enjoy their new snackroom, recently abandoned by the Art Department.

NEW Academy counselor, former coach, Ed Higginbotham, goes over important interest test with senior Carole Cleveland.

SMILING Tim Bixler enjoys the attention his cast attracts from some spirited senior girls who are eager to sign it.

BRAVING the countless queries of his bewildered students, Mr. Brannon hopefully explains the complicated world of chemistry.

BETA CLUB

Record membership enriches program of Senior Beta Club

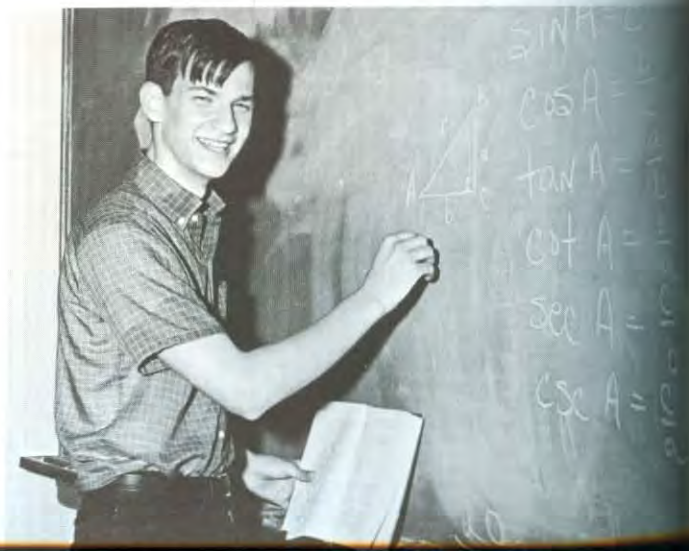

The Harding Academy Chapter of the Beta Club is an organization that encourages each student to apply himself to his utmost ability. In order to become a member of the Beta Club, a student must maintain a "90" average or above for two consecutive six-week periods. This year the Beta Club had a record membership of thirty-six students.

Buying a frame for the senior composite to be hung in the hall of the school building and a club breakfast in May to honor the seniors and to elect officers for the coming year were among the club's projects. Mrs. Andy T. Ritchie is the sponsor.

Each year the Beta Club honors the high school boy and girl that have maintained the highest grade point throughout the year. This year's honor students are Sarah Hays and Paul Farrar. Sarah maintained an excellent average of 98.8 and Paul's average was 96.8.

PUBLICATIONS

Academy Petit Jean, Wildcat staffs record student activities

The 1969-70 Petit Jean Academy staff worked long and hard to provide for the students a composite record of a memorable year. With editor Rosemary Baggett leading the volunteers, the staff devoted many enjoyable hours to writing and re-writing copy, typing and proofreading. David Campbell, the assistant editor, trained for the job of producing the 1971 Petit Jean.

Working equally as hard as the annual corps were the staff members of the 1969-70 Wildcat. Published four times a year, the school newspaper recorded news of interest to the Academy students and provided opportunity for journalistic creativity. Editor Rachel Formby and her assistant Marc Muncy combined forces to rally their staff toward a reflective tabloid of Academy events.

Miss Ruth Browning, faculty sponsor, gave much help and advice to the editors of both publications.

MUSIC GROUPS

Musical talent and dedication contribute to successful tours

Membership in the A Cappella chorus again exceeded fifty with participation divided among sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Under the direction of Ray Wright, the traveling chorus, a selected group of about forty members, took a four day fall trip to Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas. The chorus sang in three churches and one school giving inspirational programs to the large audiences. A longer trip in the spring took the chorus to Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Other activities of the group included participation in a district festival at Little Rock, a state festival at Hot Springs and performances for civic groups in Searcy and the surrounding area.

SERVICE CLUBS

Science fair and outings head activities of 1969 science club

With the addition of Randall Brannon to the Academy science faculty, the Science Club gained rejuvenation. Twenty-four students comprised the membership. During the year many field trips were made to local and area places of interest such as Bluff Hole and Wyldewood. Most of the members participated in the spring science fair.

This was another busy year for members of the Key Club whose first fund-raising project was selling home fire extinguishers. The club treasury gained funds from money collected through dirty lockers and lost book fines.

The Junior Civitans provided a badly needed service this year by raising money to paint the new snack room. The girls also saved the school extra expense by performing the job themselves.

KAT

Record membership in KAT's provides for a successful year

The old members of Kappa Alpha Theta commenced their yearly activities with the acceptance of ten new pledges. The informal initiation rite was a humiliating experience for the girls who were required, among other things, to recite nursery rhymes at the steps of the Administration Building and chant the club song in the depths of the lily pond. Formal initiation was held at the home of Georgia Merritt. Admittance of these new members increased club enrollment to twenty.

Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Elsie Lynn, the KAT's once again undertook the project of providing clothes and gifts for a child at the Conway Children's Colony. Many of the gifts were given by teachers and students of the Academy.

SUB-DEB

Fads of past decade provide theme for Sub-Deb's banquet

The drawing of peanut pals began an eventful year for the Sub-Debs. Keeping a tradition started three years ago, the members drew names for their secret pal at the formal initiation of new members. The identity of peanut pals was not revealed until the end of the year.

Trying to be serious at all times, pledgemasters put pledges through their duties of solidifying and burying smiles. Activities were climaxed by the informal initiation at Rosemary Baggett's home.

Keeping with the time, the Sub-Debs celebrated the "Fads of the Sixties." Through old records and pictures the Sub-Debs and their dates relived the past ten years. Helping them celebrate were senior beau, Johnny Baines and junior beau, Stephen Tucker. As their special guests Mr. and Mrs. Wilt Martin attended the banquet. Coach Martin was chosen by the Sub-Debs as their teacher of the year.

During May Fete the Sub-Debs were honored to have as their attendant Rachel Formby. Rosemary Baggett was chosen as the club representative.

Shortly after initiation of the pledges, the club members chose senior Darleen Jones to represent the club in the May Day festivities.

The STAR's had as the theme for their winter banquet "Happiness Is." This theme was carried out with "Peanuts" characters for table and wall decorations. Attending the banquet were club sponsor, Mrs. Ann House, and the club beaux, senior Larry Davis and junior Dan Green.

FOOTBALL

Tremendous desire for victory wins District 2-B for Wildcats

Bill Barden, in his first year as head coach, guided the 1969 Wildcats to the 2-B district championship. From a dismal start to a blazing finish was the story of the Cats this year. The Wildcats began the year by losing one game, winning one, and losing another. The team then put it all together and won the next five straight, including every one of their district foes. The Wildcats's only defeats came by the hands of class A schools, although all played were larger than Harding.

The offensive and defensive lines were coached by Wilt Martin, and four of the seven all-district players were linemen. Coach Barden and Martin installed a new diversified offense this year, and the monster defense yielded points grudgingly.

Senior leadership played a big part in the Cats winning season. Alec Petway gained over 1,100 yards and four seniors made the all-district team.

All-district selections were made by the coaches from the 2-B schools. Seven Academy students made the district team: they were Alec Petway, Larry Davis, Johnny Baines, Tony Duran, Tim Ramsey, David Campbell, Stephen Tucker.

DRIVING for a victory, senior Alec Petway gains a few more of his many yards on route to another important Wildcat TD.

Junior Wildcats use size and ability to roll over opponents

The Junior Wildcats used their size and their ability to throw the important pass in rolling over four of their five opponents.

Under the able leadership of the new Junior High Coach, David Elliott, the Junior Cats scored impressive wins over Morris and Cotton Plant, and Beedeville was beaten twice. A close loss to Heber Springs marred a perfect season.

BASKETBALL

Hustle is the key as Wildcats end up with a record of 21-3

In his second year as head coach, Wilt Martin used his famous full-court press and fast break basketball to produce a 21-3 record. The Wildcats were taller than many of the opponents they faced and used this to the best possible advantage. Outside shooting was a factor in the 1970 Cats' offensive threat, accounting for nearly half of the total points. Sticky defense held opponents to a 51-point average as the Wildcats averaged 64 points.

In the County Invitational tournament the Wildcats placed second after defeating Rosebud and Pangburn. At the Christian High School tournament in Searcy this year the Wildcats walked away with first place after defeating a tough Dallas team in the finals. John Vines and Tim Ramsey made the all-tourney team. The Wildcats suffered defeats in the County and District before the finals.

BOUNDING above the hands of the opponent senior John Vines adds his two point contribution in a drive for a victory.

JUNIOR HIGH

Junior high students discover sweet reward of achievement

The halls of the Academy were brightened this year by the eager young faces of the junior high students. With their undying energy they supported not only their own activities but all the events of the senior high as well.

The Junior Key Club awarded a fifty dollar work scholarship to the boy who participated in the most extracurricular work activities. This year's recipient was David Tucker.

Last summer the junior cheerleaders, along with the seniors, attended the cheerleading clinic at Arkansas State University in Jonesboro. Both groups won trophies, with the juniors taking two first places and three second places. The seniors also won the "spirit stick," awarded to the group having the most spirit throughout the contest.

Together, you will bring into tangible form the ideas you most want to reflect your personality and what you believe your image of tomorrow will be.

Invite him to guide you in the publishing program that will release your school's best creative effort...from concept to completion of a quality yearbook.
